Description

Shindrell is the capital of the Kingdom of Vellairn and it boasts the palaces and official buildings one would expect of the seat of power of a kingdom. At the heart of the city lies the White Palace, an impressive fortified palace with beautiful marble halls, an impressive library, the barracks of the royal guards and the magnificent throne room. Parts of the palace's southern fortifications were built into the waters of the Red River. The citizens value law and order, and the royal guards are very good at enforcing it. For this they enjoy a lot of respect among the citizens.
